Dear Devonshire families,

Did you know that....

The National Crime Agency estimates that around 80,000 people in the UK present some kind of sexual threat to children online.

E-safety is an important part of the computing curriculum and something that we take very seriously at Devonshire. This year we have introduced e-cadets to help support children's understanding of the importance of e-safety and to complement the work that they do as part of the computing curriculum.

To support parents/carers with this important topic, we have invited the local authority e-safety adviser to talk to parents on Monday 4th February at 6.30pm. He has led parent sessions previously which have received very positive feedback and he works with the children in Year 5 each year. The title of his session will be 'Knowing the dangers that children face online'.

We are lucky to be able to secure his time and hope that many of you will be able to join us for this informative evening.

Yours sincerely

F. Oastler
